New promotional service from Croatian Post: cheaper sending of smaller packages at parcel machines From August 16, 2025 to April 30, 2026, Croatian Post is running a promotional campaign for sending smaller packages via XS boxes at parcel machines, at a price of only 1.50 euros. This is an extremely affordable service that allows users to send their shipments conveniently, simply and quickly - without having to go to the post office.

This option is intended for anyone who wants to send a smaller shipment without a long wait and additional costs. Whether it is students sending books or personal belongings, parents sending clothes or toys to family members, online sellers of small items or grandparents who want to cheer up their grandchildren - sending using a parcel machine offers a practical and flexible solution.

The XS box is designed for shipments up to 9 centimeters high, 16 centimeters wide and 64 centimeters long, and Croatian Post has enabled this service at more than 300 parcel machines across Croatia. This ensures ease of access and availability for users near home, work or school.

Parcel machines are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, thus providing users with maximum flexibility. This method of sending parcels can be considered a modern, digital form of a mailbox that adapts to the pace and habits of users, allowing them greater independence and convenience.

With this action, Croatian Post continues to develop and modernize its services, making delivery faster, simpler and more financially accessible to a wide range of citizens.
