

New Certificate of Excellence for Miami Sorting Centre

12-03-2020

The Miami International Sorting Centre passed a successful assessment and received a Certificate of Excellence in recognition of the management and staff working in an international site that provides an excellent service quality through engagement and efficient processes.

The IPC Certification of Excellence in the Management and Processing of International Priority Products is an independent review process that encourages postal operators to strive for excellence. Other USPS Offices of Exchange are scheduled for assessment between now and 2023. The coming months will see additional assessments in Denmark, Norway and Hungary.

More information about the IPC Certificates of Excellence can be found here.
