

NZ Post update on sending to the US and US territories

25-08-2025

NZ Post wishes to reassure customers that we are responding with agility to what is a very complex situation. Many other postal operators around the globe have also had to temporarily suspend sending into the US.

We can confirm that suspension of parcel services into the US and US territories will be temporary, and we are working on getting solutions in place as fast as we possibly can.

We appreciate that Kiwis want clarity, and we will continue to provide updates on the evolving situation. The best place to get the latest information is on our website at international delivery updates.
