

Liam O’Sullivan to be new IPC Director Operations

28-09-2017

Liam O’Sullivan will be IPC’s Director Operations. He will start on Monday 1 November 2017.

Liam O’Sullivan will be IPC’s Director Operations. He will start on Monday 13 November 2017.

Liam studied in Cork and at the London Business School. In 1985 he joined An Post. During his career, he has gained broad experience across the full range of the Company’s business. He has held various senior managerial and project management positions in the company. Latterly he has been the Director of Mail Operations and a member of the Group Executive team at An Post.

Liam has a track record of successfully delivering commercial solutions and improving performance in complex contexts.

He will take over from David Spottiswood, who is the current Interim Director Operations at IPC.