

FedEx Recognized as One of Fortune Magazine's 100 Best Companies to Work For in 2019

14-02-2019

FedEx Corp. (NYSE: FDX) announced today that it has been named one of the 100 Best Companies to Work For by Fortune Magazine and global research and consulting firm Great Place to Work. This respected list, which was first published 22 years ago, is based on survey feedback representing more than 4.3 million employees across the United States.

"We are once again honored to be recognized as one of Fortune Magazine's Best Places to Work," said Judy Edge, corporate vice president of Human Resources at FedEx Corp. "This honor directly reflects the hard work and dedication of our more than 450,000 team members. A positive, inclusive environment is fundamental to FedEx culture, and I am proud that our global workforce recognizes this business priority. "

"The 2019 100 Best are the leaders in creating the most innovative workplaces built on trust," said Michael C. Bush, CEO of Great Place to Work. "Employees at these organizations feel valued, respected and heard, and are inspired to be their best selves because of the commitment these winning companies have made to create a great workplace for all employees, no matter who they are or what they do for the company."

Each year, the 100 Best Companies to Work For are selected according to the results of the survey, in which respondents rated their workplace culture on more than 60 elements, including trust in managers, compensation, fairness, camaraderie and workplace traits linked to innovation. The rankings account for the experiences of all employees, including women, people of color, LGBTQ individuals, older team members and disabled employees.
