

Posti to make picking up parcels easier during the Christmas season

27-11-2017

Starting on November 27, Posti is offering extended opening hours and more item pickup points for the Christmas season. The Black Friday campaigns of Finnish and international online stores create a considerable peak in volume for Posti.

Starting on November 27, Posti is offering extended opening hours and more item pickup points for the Christmas season. The Black Friday campaigns of Finnish and international online stores create a considerable peak in volume for Posti.

To make pickups smoother, items are directed to pickup points according to their availability. In addition to Posti's network of 1,400 service points, the season will see the introduction of more than one hundred pop-up pickup points in the run-up to Christmas.

Check the locations and opening hours of the pop-up pickup points.

Online shoppers should keep in mind the delivery times of different online stores as deliveries from outside Europe may take weeks, for instance.

“Posti’s additional operations for the parcel season will last from now until Christmas Eve. We want to ensure that parcel traffic is smooth in every possible way. We will be sorting parcels in three shifts seven days a week throughout the Christmas season, increasing deliveries to service points and filling Posti Parcel Lockers more often. When customers pick up their items quickly, the operations of Posti service points are smooth,” says Head of Parcel Process Peter Staven.

Posti outlets open also during the weekends

From November 27 to December 22, Posti’s own shops will remain open until 8:00 p.m. on weekdays. Posti’s own shops will also be open on weekends before Christmas. We recommend picking up items during evenings and weekend hours when there are fewer customers.

Source: Posti