

Delivery firms shut down in Florida and Georgia as Irma storms across the region

11-09-2017

UPS, FedEx, DHL and the US Postal Service have suspended services in hundreds of cities and towns across Florida, Georgia and South Carolina as Tropical Storm Irma sweeps across the region causing widespread heavy flooding. Various airports in Florida remain closed today, including Miami which is the main regional centre for air express and freight operations. However, Miami might be able to re-open with limited operations on Tuesday.

Source: <https://www.cep-research.com/news/delivery-firms-shut-down-in-florida-and-georgia-as-irma-storms-across-the-region>